DETAILED ACTION

1. The preliminary amendment filed on 6/26/06 has been entered.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-11 and 32 -39, drawn to an apparatus and method of writing, reading and storing, classified in class 365, subclass 189.011.
 - II. Claims 12-20, drawn to a memory layer structure, classified in class 257, subclass 379.
 - III. Claims 21-31 drawn to an apparatus of a memory, classified in class 365, subclass 148.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions (I and III) and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, each of the different inventions I and III has different structure and operation from the invention II. For instance, each of inventions I and III does not need the features such as a transistor formed on a semiconductor substrate and having a source, a drain and a gate as recited in the invention II. The device of the invention II does not need the features such as a first variable resistor connected between a first terminal and a third terminal having a resistance which changes in accordance with a polarity of a pulse voltage between the first terminal and the third terminal as recited in the inventions I and III.

Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination I has separate utility such as a second variable resistor connected between the third terminal and a second terminal having a resistance which changes in a direction opposite to a direction of change of the first variable resistor in accordance with a polarity of a pulse voltage between the third terminal and the second terminal which features are not recited in the invention III. In the same viewpoint, the invention III has separate utility such as a first memory block connected between a first node and a second node which features are not recited in the invention I. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

The examiner has required restriction between subcombinations usable together. Where applicant elects a subcombination and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.
